Two Residents of Nursing Home At Caruthersville Die in Fire

CARUTHERSVILLE -- Mrs. Dottie Gatewood and Jesse Royal, elderly residents of a nursing home owned by Paul Hunthouser, 214 Eastwood, died as a result of a fire of undetermined origin early today.

A fireman at the scene said Mrs. Gatewood died from suffocation at the fire scene. Royal, according to a spokesman at Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital at Hayti, died shortly after being admitted to the hospital.

Charles Jones, Caruthersville fireman, said Royal was in a first floor room.

"We didn't know he was in there until after we brought the blaze under control," Jones said.

He estimated Royal was burned over 70 per cent of his body. Jones said Royal, who was unconscious, was found in a north room by fireman McCury Meyer. This was about 20 minutes after the fire was reported.

Jones said a man identified as Felix Maupan, another resident, was injured when he escaped from the fire by climbing out a window. His condition is reported as good at the Hayti hospital.

Jones estimated about 12 persons lived in the house. The fire was reported at 2:15 a.m. by Neil Thompson, who lived in the house. Thompson told firemen Mrs. Gatewood was unable to find a phone in the house to report the fire, which began in the back portion of the two-story structure.

Thompson walked to the fire station.

Jones said the fire had engulfed the house by the time they arrived.

He estimated 12 firemen fought the inferno before extinguishing it at 7 a.m.

Jones said the room ceiling and the second floor was heavily damaged. The 20 room house was gutted by the flames.

Eban Proposes Preliminary Talks Between Israel, Egypt

TEL AVIV (AP) — Foreign Minister Abba Eban proposed today that Israel and Egypt send delegates to "an agreed place" to discuss procedures unconditionally for later peace talks.

Addressing the Knesset, Israel's parliament in Jerusalem, Eban said preliminary talks could be of "the most unofficial nature."

Such contacts could "prepare the ground for a real negotiation which is the only exit from the present conflict," he said.

Eban said preliminary talks could be of "the most unofficial nature."

Such contacts could "prepare the ground for a real negotiation which is the only exit from the present conflict," he said.

Eban's statement was regarded as significant in that it constitutes acceptance of an element understood to be in the latest U.S. proposal for a Middle East settlement.

This proposal, by Secretary of State William P. Rogers, calls for Arab-Israeli contacts under the auspices of Swedish diplomat Gunnar Jarring, a U.N. guerilla squad, which had infiltrated across the frontier, opened fire from Israeli territory on an Israeli army patrol west of Metulla in northern Galilee, a spokesman said.

The troops followed the softening of the Israeli stand, which has been adamant that no talks should be face to face, said. The wounded woman was taken to Israel for medical treatment. There were no details as to how she was hit.

Israeli troops also crossed the Jordan River and wrecked a Jordanian army cluster of bunkers and trenches used as a forward base by guerrillas, the Israeli military command announced.

The pursuit began when a guerilla squad, which had infiltrated across the frontier, opened fire from Israeli territory on an Israeli army patrol west of Metulla in northern Galilee, a spokesman said.

Red Losses Reported High in Drivers Phnom Penh, Khe Sanh

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Cambodian forces battled west and north of Phnom Penh today while allied forces claimed more than 400 North Vietnamese killed in five days of attacks near Khe Sanh, in the northwest corner of South Vietnam.

A Cambodian military spokesman said a relief force of U.S. trained mercenaries was battling an estimated 1,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong who on Saturday overran the mountain resort of Kiri Rom, 50 miles west of Phnom Penh.

The spokesman claimed at least 50 of the enemy were killed in fighting Sunday and said the only government casualties reported were 24 wounded Saturday and Sunday.

During the night, the spokesman said, South Vietnamese AC47 gunships attacked suspected enemy positions, and today the enemy force hit the Cambodian troops with mortar and infantry attacks.

Kiri Rom sits atop a 2,000-foot mountain and before the war was a playground of the wealthy seeking a cool climate. The town itself appears to have no military significance.

The spokesman also reported that an enemy raiding party broke through government defenses at the Long Vek munitions depot 30 miles west of Phnom Penh, but a government counterattack pushed it out. No casualties were reported on either side.

The government says it stripped the sprawling arsenal when Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces began a buildup in the area several weeks ago.

In South Vietnam, government forces reported killing 33 North Vietnamese troops in scattered clashes and finding 26 more bodies in the fifth day of fighting near Khe Sanh.

Allied officers believe their forces may have wiped out the equivalent of a full-strength North Vietnamese battalion—about 600 men—around the abandoned U.S. Marine base.

The report today brought the total enemy casualties to 417 killed and five captured since the first contact was made last Wednesday by helicopter gunships of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division.

It was the biggest enemy casualty toll in a single battlefield action in Vietnam in months.

In Saigon today, a grenade exploded under the car of Pham Tuy Tue, secretary-general of the National Assembly's lower house. A guard readying the car to drive Tue to his office and a maid cleaning the vehicle were wounded. Tue was in his home at the time and was not hurt.

The assemblyman said the American-made M26 fragmentation grenade apparently had been placed in a box under the front of the car during the night and rigged to go off when the car moved.

Prison Inmate's Throat Slashed

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Warden Harold R. Swenson said today Edward R. Fierst, 28, is recovering from a throat slashing that took place in Missouri penitentiary's main dining room Saturday afternoon.

Swenson said the assailant, whom he declined to name prior to charges being filed, was caught in the attack. He said the man walked up behind Fierst as he sat at a dining table, held his forehead with one hand and slashing at the throat.

The warden said the jugular vein was not cut and quick surgery saved Fierst's life. Swenson said apparently the attacker believed Fierst had stolen two cartons of cigarettes and some cookies from his cell. Fierst is serving a 10½ year sentence from St. Louis county for armed robbery.

Although declining to divulge the attacker's name, Swenson said he is serving two life terms and two of 99 years each.

Conscientious objectors have been youths who have refused regular military service on grounds of religious convictions against war.

Recently the United States Supreme Court enlarged this draft exemption by making a draftee's moral or ethical aversion to war a grounds for exemption from military duties.

Local draft boards will decide if a young man is sincere in his moral or ethical objection to military service.

Mrs. Calvin Nebel, executive secretary of the selective service of Scott county at Benton, commented:

"No one has applied for this year. I don't know how we would decide. I suppose if someone had been in a lot of trouble with the law and then filed for moral exemption against war then it would mean something but I really don't know."

Mrs. Nebel said that there had been no calls to her office about the new procedure.

She said there are two categories for conscientious objectors.

"The first category is for those who accept military service but will not carry a gun. The second classification is for those who refuse military service in any form including training."

Mrs. Nebel said that in the past year three young men have objected to military service on religious grounds.

"There was one person who objected to both categories for conscientious objections. He has no number and has been classified 1-A. He has applied for a ministerial classification."

Mrs. Nebel admitted that it is tough on the draft boards to make the decision concerning the sincerity of a young man's convictions.

"I have seen where some have resigned," she said referring to other draft boards.

Mrs. Walter Beck, executive secretary of the selective service board in Mississippi county at Charleston, said she had received only one call concerning the new draft exemption.

The call was from a young man registered with an Illinois board and he was referred to his own board for action.

Mrs. Beck said she has received no new requests for exemptions.

The board had had a few registrants file in the past year for exemption on combatant grounds and a few have filed for combatant and non-combatant exemptions.

Mrs. Beck said the exact number of these filings wasn't available.

She said they do not anticipate many additional requests for exemptions from the county under the broadened exemptions.

Catholics threw up a barricade in the Flax Street section of Belfast and in another area hoisted the flag of southern Ireland. British troops ordered the barricade dismantled and the flag hauled down in the interest of keeping peace.

Last year, the parades touched off weeks of religious warfare, and tension has been rising since the imprisonment of Catholic leader Bernadette Devlin two weeks ago.

Marches were canceled in two areas of Londonderry County that are predominantly Catholic. Authorities in Belfast ordered considerable rerouting of the local parade to keep it

Plane Crash Injures Two

VAN BUREN, Mo. (AP) — Two Van Buren, Mo., men were critically injured when a Cessna 210 plane crashed on its takeoff from Big Springs Park airport about 6:45 a.m.

The Missouri Highway Patrol identified the two men as Hurshel Crass, owner and pilot of the plane, and W. T. Bollinger Jr., a passenger.

The patrol said the plane took off with fog in the area, crashed into a hillside and burned. Both men were seriously burned.

Crass and Bollinger, a former state representative, were first taken to a hospital in Poplar Bluff, Mo., and then transferred to hospitals in St. Louis.

Doctors at the Poplar Bluff hospital reported Crass was transferred to the burn center of St. John's Hospital in St. Louis, and Bollinger was taken to Barnes Hospital, St. Louis. The conditions of both men was listed as critical.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

DO REDS RESPECT PUBLIC OPINION

Most people have the hard-core Vietcong communists pegged for what they are; ruthless, cruel, and cold-blooded in their aggressive efforts to impose communist dictatorship by force over the people of South Vietnam. Since this is indeed an accurate description of a North Vietnamese Red, many assume that they "could care less" about world public opinion.

Quite to the contrary, there is much evidence to show that the communists do care about public opinion; and that they watch it very closely. Richard Dudman, one of the captive reporters recently released by the Reds, declared that the Communists listened nightly to BBC (British Broadcasting) news; that "Names of the major members of the U.S. Senate were familiar to them, especially J. William Fulbright, Mike Mansfield, and Eugene J. McCarthy..." Dudman further reported that "the guerrillas were watching developments on the Cooper-Church amendment..." etc.

The Communists also, for the same reason, pay attention to their mail from Americans. The American Red Cross reports that since the start of 1970; three times as much mail has been received from U.S. prisoners in North Vietnam as in the previous five years: and that approximately 320 Americans have been identified as POWs, as compared to less than 100 a year ago.

The Red Cross attributes this small concession on the part of the Communists to the tens of thousands of letters which have been sent by Americans to the President of North Vietnam, demanding that the Communists adhere to the rules of the Geneva Convention, which they agreed to.

The Reds have a long way to go before meeting even the minimum requirements of the Geneva agreements; to promptly identify all prisoners, provide them with adequate care and diet, permit communication with other prisoners and families at home, prompt repatriation of the sick and wounded, protection from abuse and reprisals, etc. They are still holding hundreds of Americans who have not been identified, and have not been permitted to write to their families. Hence it is important for concerned Americans to continue to send their protests to Hanoi. The letters, which cost 25 cents in postage per one-half ounce, should be addressed to: President, Democratic Republic of Vietnam, Hanoi, North Vietnam. As the Red Cross says, "It'll cost you 25 cents. But it may save a life."

The Colonel said: "Learn to play solitaire: when you grow old you may not have enough friends to play two and three-handed games."

Toll roads are pretty much in the news and in private discussions these days and Missourians are going to decide on Primary Election Day whether Missouri will undertake the construction of toll roads by dipping into their present highway department funds to guarantee the payment of the toll roads bonds.

We think it is fairly well known that we are not in favor of this move but we are questioned often as to why. We are not opposed to toll roads if they are built and paid for by bonds which they — and they alone — are responsible for paying. The fact is that most toll roads in the nation are losing money and the money lenders are not anxious to loan money for their construction and maintenance.

Last year, we are told, only four roads (toll) in the nation broke even and all the others lost their losses running well over $100 million dollars.

The last specific year we have at hand shows that in 1967, the Kansas turnpike lost better than 16 million dollars, the Oklahoma turnpikes lost better than $24 million - even the old Pennsylvania turnpike went in the hole to the tune of $21 million. The biggest loser was the Jacksonville Florida freeway which lost $96 million.

Now then, if Missouri builds turnpike (toll roads) and they lose money like our neighboring states are losing money, the state highway department will be forced, under the proposal to be voted on at the primary election (Proposal No. 2) to take from the other road funds the money necessary to guarantee the payment of the bonds. In other words, there will be no certainty of construction of other roads until the toll road bonds are satisfied. That's why we are not planning on voting "yes" on proposition 2.

And, says Mortimer Smith, executive director of the Council for Basic Education, "evidence that Johnny still can't read floods upon us, from the objective data showing draft rejection rates for illiteracy to the subjective complaints of employers about the number of applicants who cannot read sufficiently to complete a simple application form."

THE CUSTOMER WHO COMPLAINS

Recently, the Better Business Bureau pointed out the value of the customer who complains.

How should a firm look on complaints?

They should be welcome. If any unhappy customer does not complain, chances are he will go to a competitor and be lost.

If he does complain, he is then demonstrating his loyalty and we should be grateful. If he does complain, he pin-points for us one of the ways customers are displeased. Even if the cause cannot be corrected, we are well served to know about it.

If he does complain, he gives us a sales opportunity. No one needs considerate, helpful treatment as much as a customer who feels mistreated. If we give this kind of treatment when he needs it-- while he is still hurting--there is no better salesmanship.

If he does complain, and finds us callously disinterested, we have pushed him into the group of minority consumers who want to crack down on business. We have laid another brick in the foundation of restrictive laws to protect consumers (which becomes a political blunder).

So when you or any of us have a complaint (and every business does, sooner or later) be interested, be grateful, be courteous and be prompt.

Of course, there are times when the complaint is unjustified but a customer will respect your positive stand-- knowing that no one else will be treated differently.

NEW YORK (AP) — We live in the heyday of the "yes man."

The docile underling who rubberstamps everything with his approval, whether he understands it or not, is a laughingstock caricature in the business world.

But actually the "yes man" isn't confined to the realm of the office. He is ubiquitous. He is in us all.

Either because of laziness or spinelessness, or both most of us spend most of our days acceding to situations or suggestions that add nothing to our pleasure and may threaten our safety.

We let ourselves be talked into eating things we don't really like, meeting people we don't want to meet, going to places we have no real desire to see, buying things we don't need, and wasting our lovely time on earth chasing phantoms we wouldn't know what to do with if we caught them.

One test of maturity as well as wisdom is the ability to say no at the right time, even at the risk of seeming a bit unpleasant. Sometimes you have to be positive by taking a negative attitude.

When should one reject? Well, here are a few invitations which, if accepted, are unlikely to increase one's peace of mind or well being:

"You climb up and fix it. I'll hold the ladder."

"You don't want to be the only spoil-sport in the crowd do you?"

"Oh, go ahead and dive in. The water is probably at least 10-feet deep here."

"Well, try it just once. For Pete's sake, it isn't going to kill you."

"You must be tired of hearing about little old me. Tell me about yourself."

"Sit here on the sofa by me. Is that light shining in your eyes? I'll turn it off. Now, isn't this more cozy?"

"Let me give you some of my pills) They do wonders for me."

"Can I ask your advice about a personal matter?"

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — The Nixon administration has used a public relations fraud to build up the hopes of blacks, Puerto Ricans and Mexican-Americans who dream of owning their own businesses.

The Commerce Department has publicized opportunities that do not exist and promised money that is not available. The glowing statistics put out by the Commerce Department have turned out to be based, in part on shaky figures and wishful thinking.

During the 1968 presidential campaign, Richard Nixon held out hope that the minorities could share in the full fruits of capitalism. He promised to help the people of the ghettos acquire their own shops. Conservative business sense could deal with poverty, he said, more effectively than could liberal pipe dreams.

Traveling salesman for the Nixon plan is Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans, who has whirled through 10 cities gusted by a snowstorm of press releases. In troubled urban centers such as Harlem and Chicago, Stans has gathered together hundreds of blacks, Puerto Ricans and Mexican-Americans to tell of the opportunities awaiting them.

He has dangled before minority audiences $301 million in federal funds that are supposed to be available this year to help them become businessmen. He has boasted of commitments the administration has gained from chain companies willing to franchise shops and stores to minority owners.

The program indeed offers opportunities for minority businessmen. But the prospects are neither as plentiful nor as golden as the official ballyhoo claims.

ELUSIVE $301 MILLION
All too often, those who pursue the government promises are rewarded only with false hopes. The $301 million figure, for example, was never more than a public relations guess. This column has spent three weeks tracking down the funds that were supposed to make up the $301 million. Our discovery: the actual amount available to promote minority capitalism had painfully shrunk.

important points. First, no notice was taken of the fact that doctors are no different than anyone when it comes to making both ends meet as inflation whittles away at the value of the dollar. As one authority has pointed out, at the 1968 rate of inflation a physician must increase his net earnings by 10 per cent a year just to break even. The authority listed six major problems that face the medical practitioner. They are the demand for higher productivity; the boom in malpractice cases, necessitating that the physician keep more detailed, and costly records; increased paperwork; the necessity to stay up with the growing volume of Medicare and Medicaid claim forms; the necessity for additional office help to keep up with the increased workload; and "increasing governmental controls."

welfare. We seem to forget that lasting progress is never attained through confiscation of either the property or the talent of another person.

A first grade teacher fresh from college was taking over her first class. Upon entering the classroom she noticed a nasty word on the blackboard followed by the signature "Thrush."

So she said, "Now children, let's fold our little hands, put them on our little desks and put our little heads down on the desks. Then the person who wrote this word can come up and erase it."

So they all folded their little hands, put them on their little desks and put their little heads down on the desks. All was quiet for a while then there was a thump, thump of little feet scurrying back to a desk.

After everything was quiet again the teacher said, "Now let's see if the bad word is thoroughly erased." So they looked to see a new, nastier word followed by "Thrush Strikes Again!"

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — The biggest cut of the $301 million pie was supposed to be provided by the Small Business Administration, which was marked down for $74.3 million in direct loans. The final figure for the fiscal year, which ended on June 30, isn't yet available. But with only a couple of weeks unreported, the SBA had laid out only $81.7 million in guarantees, as contrasted with their trumpeted goal of $144.4 million.

The Office of Economic Opportunity was put down for $56 million of the $301 million. But OEO officials say they spent only about $37 million. Even these funds might have only "indirect" benefits to minority businessmen, acknowledged spokesman Tom Dowling, who said the funds "were not designed as a minority enterprise program."

At many agencies, the officials knew nothing about the funds they supposedly were contributing as their part of the $301 million goal. The search for the correct figures often led reporters for this column into a hopeless bureaucratic quagmire.

ROYAL RUN-AROUND

The Department of Housing and Urban Development, for instance, was down for $4.3 million. My associate, Teresa Black was referred from official to official, none of whom had any knowledge of the elusive $4.3 million. She talked to nine officials, some of them twice.

Finally, Leonard Tambor's office in HUD's division of renewal insisted she should talk to Harry Speigel in the public affairs office, where the merry-go-round had begun several calls before. Speigel referred her to Ted Savage, another public affairs officer, who suggested she should call Harry Speigel.

When she protested that she had just talked to Speigel, Savage shouted across the room: "Hey, Harry! This is YOUR program!" Speigel then got hold of Howard Cayton, the Urban Renewal Demonstration director whose office Miss Black had already called. Cayton replied that he couldn't identify the $4.3 million figure and referred her to still another official.

Back at the Commerce Department, spokesman Israel Rubin said the $3.01 million

We've Done It Again

Alarming word got around some time back that the Pacific's famed coral reefs were in danger of being devoured by a voracious starfish.

It what sounded like a plot for a science-horror movie, the numbers of the previously rare creature, the Crown of Thorns, had zoomed and they were going after their favorite food, living coral, at a rate that threatened to destroy the reefs, actually the accumulated skeletons of coral, which protect islands from being pounded away by the sea and provide fishing grounds for the islanders. The starfish already have digested some thing like 100 square miles of Australia's Great Barrier Reef.

Now, after a study of the problem by Interior Department scientists, the awful truth is out. The real villain is not the starfish but man.

Assorted human activities including reduction of the starfish's natural enemies through overfishing and pollution of the water with insecticides have resulted in the Crown of Thorns population explosion.

The Interior Department scientists now suggest that the starfish be brought under control by, among other measures, teams of divers going after them with poison guns. Proving, if nothing else, that man's ingenuity in dealing with nature is exceeded only by his destructive capacity.

CIA finds a spook: French aircraft circles use mystery man in maneuver to kill U.S. SST plane

Washington, D.C.: -- It might have been the man from U.N.C.L.E. Or, since truth is consistently corner than fiction, the CIA's theory is he was a counter-spook.

Whoever he was, he appeared dignified, erudite, properly structured and every inch the high French official which he represented himself to be. When he turned off the Champs Elysees into the American Embassy in Paris, he carried a well-tailored, Madison Avenue-type report -- which statistics and opinions attached.

In effect, what the French gentleman aerospace engineer-economist said in his heavy document presented to U.S. diplomats was that the British-French supersonic aircraft, the Concorde, was not viable. It was not economic. It will never really be built. The report seemed to prove conclusively that the Concorde would never make it. It would never be put into production.

The French "government official" left taking his impeccable credentials with him and leaving his incredible report behind. This was well over a year ago and once ambassador to the Elysee Palace was Sargent Shriver. He dispatched it by pouch to the State Dept, which routed it along to other government agencies -- asking what economic impact would it have on the U.S. if we built a supersonic transport (SST) and the French and British did not. What would happen to our balance of trade as we increased travel speed?

No idle question, this. If we build a supersonic transport which can carry some 250 to 300 passengers to Europe in 2 hours and we fly a number of daily round trips, American tourism would rocket and dollars would pour out of the U.S. Now, if the British and French were not going to build an SST, if the Concorde really was being abandoned as the mysterious Frenchman would have our Paris embassy believe, then the flight of European tourists into the U.S. certainly would not match the outflow and we, the U.S. would lose hundreds of millions of dollars annually in the tourist balance of trade.

So why spend millions now on an American SST?

But we do have some aerospace experts in the U.S. They knew that the strange, albeit highly polished, report handed to our embassy in Paris contradicted reports from French industrial and aerospace circles. So the Central Intelligence Agency and Air Force intelligence moved in. They found enough to convince themselves that the mystery visitor was a French spook.

The British and French certainly were speeding the Concorde along. It was in advanced stages hour after hour. If it moved out fast, without facing American competition, it

TO STOP AIR HIJACKING

The problem of airplane hijacking has brought much concern, but no solutions. To date, most proposals have dealt with prevention, rather than with subduing the shyacker in flight, because of the obvious hazards of using force against a gunman in a crowded passenger plane. Even more critical is the probability of injury to the pilots, which could cause the plane to crash, killing all its occupants.

Since no methods of detection, either technological or psychological, are likely to screen out every potential skyjacker before he boards an airplane, some consideration should be given to a method of stopping a skyjacking in the air. And since the problem is so close to impossible, some really imaginative thinking is going to be required if any solution is to be found.

There is one idea which might seem preposterous at first thought, but that's what they said about the Wright brothers. This idea comes from recalling a very primitive method of subduing a man: the drug-tipped dart.

A modern version of such a tranquilizing agent could be injected into a skyjacker by a stewardess or other crewmember by means of a dart or pellet projected from a concealable weapon which could look like a harmless fountain pen.

A check of available drugs reveals no agent presently available which could incapacitate a man quickly enough. However, our nation's personal enterprise drug manufacturers have the talent

Readers Claims News Media Cruel

Dear Ann Landers: How cruel can the news media get? A few days ago I heard on the radio that a woman who lives in London -- and they mentioned her by name -- failed her driver's license test for the 39th time. The poor thing had been trying for 11 years to pass and now she is giving up. She invested over $700 on driving lessons, tutors and test fees which are required in England before one can take the examinations.

Can you imagine that woman's shame -- after having failed so many times? And then to have it publicized all over the world must have destroyed her. To my way of thinking it is the most heartless thing I ever heard of. Why would they do it? -- Sorry For Her

Dear Sorry: Everyone likes to read of the unusual -- and this story certainly qualifies. It also makes the people who have failed their driving tests three and four times feel better. I agree, however, it would have been just as well had they not mentioned her name.

Dear Ann Landers: I feel compelled to write in reference to "Hung Up" -- the woman who didn't know whether or not to marry a man who hated her young daughter by a previous marriage. The poor girl happened to bear a striking resemblance to his ex-wife whom he despised.

I married for the second time seven years ago. My daughter was nine at the time. She was an image of her father, whom my husband loathed. I, too, thought she would conquer all. Here is the way it turned out. My husband picks on her unmercifully. She hates him. The girl has turned from a smiling, pleasant person into a sullen, unhappy liar. I am constantly in the middle. Her stepfather never refers to her by name. It's always, "your daughter."

The guilt I feel for bringing up this child in such a hostile environment is driving me crazy. If "Hung Up's" daughter is hiding in her room NOW, refusing to come out even for meals, I shudder to think of the future.

Unless the mother is willing to ditch the girl in a boarding school and then ship her off to Europe during summer vacations, she is in for a hell on earth. If she doesn't it will be hell for the girl. Either way the marriage is doomed. If the mother who wrote hasn't already made the trek to the alter, I hope she changes her mind. -- Too Late For Me, I Married Him

Dear Too Late: I received a surprising number of letters which read a great deal like yours. Most of the writers were women, but a few men had a similar story to tell about second wives who mistreated their children. How sad for all of them.

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell folks that when they see a person with a black eye not to ask, "What happened?" Anybody with half a brain can see that somebody probably hung on a haymaker.

And while you're at it, tell people that the jokes about shiners are not funny to the person who has one. I have had two in four weeks and I am sick of nousey questions and stale wisecracks. Thank you. -- Ducked Too Late

Dear Duck: Two in four weeks? A person who has that much trouble with his eyes must also have a problem with his mouth. If ten isn't enough, count to forty.

What is French kissing? Is it wrong? Who should set the necking limits -- the boy or the girl? Can a shotgun wedding succeed? Read Ann Landers' booklet, "Tenn-Age Sex -- Ten Ways To Cool It."

LONDON (AP) -- The Jesuit House of Studies at Heythrop, Oxfordshire, is expected soon to become a part of London University. The move follows concern expressed at the Vatican Council that theological colleges should be linked with secular universities. The idea is that in future Jesuit and non-Jesuit, Roman Catholic and non-Catholic, teachers and students can approach their theology in an ecumenical setting. The Heythrop library, containing 200,000 rare books, will be available to London University students.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Hunt on for New And Better Foods

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Nutrition Columnist

Estimates imply that by the year 2000 the world's population will double. That means an enormous number of mouths to feed within the next 30 years. A special congress of scientists, technologists and educators will meet in Washington, D.C., in August to try to solve the urgency of this problem. It will be called SOS '70, or the meeting for the Science of Survival.

The great demands for more meat and milk will have to be met with equally palatable and nutritious substitutes. Many scientists foresee that soybean products will become a large factor in these efforts to provide enough protein food.

Dr. H. E. Robinson, immediate past-president of the Institute of Food Technologists, who will be hosts for SOS '70, says:

"Take frankfurters for example of the likely use of soybean protein. The government today restricts the use of nonmeat in meat to 2 to 4 percent. They fear deception. But if the frankfurters are marked as containing soybean protein and under pressure of rising population demands more is used, with government O.K., they could contain up to 20 percent of soybean protein--a tasteless, highly nutritious product containing an assortment of amino acids that may be even better than in meat. This is one way to ease pressures on our meat supplies by a substitution that is increasingly plentiful, nutritious and palatable."

At the congress, 3,000 scientists and other knowledgeable persons will discuss proteins, nutrition, grains and soybeans, sensory properties of food, microbiology, etc. Fifty countries will be represented, including some from behind the Iron Curtain. It will be co-sponsored by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

"I predict that two-thirds of the food Americans will eat in 1985 will be in forms not familiar to the public today. Yet our food will continue to be good to eat and highly nutritious," Robinson, a University of Pittsburgh biologist and corporate vice-president for research and development of Swift & Co., believes.

He believes also that the cultivation of oil and proteins from soybeans offers the outstanding possibility for food improvement. The second best source will be dried and processed fish products. In the future, there will be petroleum-based proteins and protein supplies from algae, seaweed and leaves.

"Very soon the consumer can expect delicious high protein snacks made from textured soybean protein. These will be enriched with iron, a plus for many teenage girls and women who are probably short in iron," he says.

Today completely imitation milks are gaining in popularity. Mellorine, a substitute for ice cream in which vegetable or other fat replaces butter fat, is sold legally in 13 states. Coffee whiteners and whipped toppings have taken around 35 percent of the market from light cream.

"These changes in consistencies without loss in flavor or nutrition in the food we are now eating point to the vast changes ahead. Our expanding population, always hungry, will demand them," Robinson comments.

It might be tempting to think of the movements and powers and protests are born and raised in New York, Boston and Berkeley while the rest of the country sticks to its knitting. Having just returned from a tour of Middle America to gauge the reaction, I can say this just isn't so.

Protests Hit Many Places

Lynn Sherr Says:

There are enough causes among young people today to keep button manufacturers in business from now until they invent a sloganizing zipper. In fact, one group of ecology people is protesting button pollution. Their cause is to see that buttons are made of destructible materials.

No one is safe from today's causes.

Take a mythical man caught in the middle: he is bombarded by feminists for being a male sexist, by Panthers for not being black, by the Progressive Labor Party for not getting chummy with cafeteria workers, by doves for being a hawk, by hawks for being a dove, by everybody on all sides for not being poor enough, liberated enough, violent enough.

If it drives him to smoke, the Cancer Society says no. If it drives him to drink, there's still the WCTU. He is deprived from being genuinely deprived.

For Amusement Only, Hopefully

And while the government is struggling with Red Power on Alcatraz, the ecologists are struggling with atomic power on the Hudson.

Birch Bayh recently held hearings on a proposed equal rights amendment in Washington. Sweeping abortion reforms are being passed. Child care is not just a department in the Ladies Home Journal -- itself recently "liberated" by a vigorous group of feminists -- but a topic in the Congress of the United States.

MERRY OLD ENGLAND may have gone conservative in recent parliamentary elections, but look at how it turned out for the Royal Ascot races, an annual fashionable event dating from 1711. The poor horses could hardly hope to compete with the display of weird, wide and wonderful hats.

1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Dash of cayenne
4 cups ground cooked ham (about 1 lb.)

Combine cereal, milk, eggs, chopped onion, chopped celery, and seasonings; mix thoroughly. Stir in ham; mix well. Pack ham mixture firmly into an 8x4-inch loaf pan. Garnish with parsley and halved pineapple rings studded with modern America, Col. Willingham says she thinks a system could be worked out to draft women for public service.

Jana Stroup Represents Missouri at National American Home Economics Association.

Jana Stroup, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Stroup of Benton, is attending the national convention of Future Homemakers of America in New York City this week.

Miss Stroup is state representative for the Missouri association, and is a member of the FHA chapter at Kelly High School.

A series of 16 rotating workshops on careers in home economics will be conducted at the meeting. Election of national officers, and discussion of family communications is also a part of the program.

Sightseeing and an evening at Radio City Music Hall is in agenda.

Future Homemakers of America is a national organization of home economics students in secondary schools. It is a self-supporting, non-profit organization, sponsored by the U.S. Office of Education and the Men -- bachelors in particular -- are touchingly grateful for home-style cooking with plenty of good, old-fashioned food on the table. So be kind to bachelors and invite at least one to share a dinner of Ham Loaf with Fluffy Mustard Sauce.

Best Set For Test

Cards Lose Again

CINCINNATI (AP) — A battery of National League's biggest guns, led by hometown howitzer Tony Perez and Johnny Bench, should put American League pitching and the fences of Riverfront Stadium to a severe test in Tuesday night's first All-Star Game.

National League Manager Gil Hodges and American League's manager Earl Weaver were to announce their batting order for the mid-season classic today, and it was anticipated that right-handers Tom Seaver, 14-5, of the New York Mets and Jim Palmer, 12-6, of the Baltimore Orioles would be named the opposing starting pitchers.

The other NL starters are first baseman Richie Allen of St. Louis, second baseman Glenn Beckert and shortstop Don Jossing of the Chicago Cubs, third baseman Perez and catcher Bench of Cincinnati and outfielders Hank Aaron and Rico Carthy of Atlanta and Willie Mays of San Francisco.

Starting for the AL will be first baseman Boog Powell and second baseman Dave Johnson of Baltimore, shortstop Luis Aparicio of the Chicago White Sox, third baseman Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota, catcher Bill Freehan of Detroit and outfielders Carl Yastrzemski of Boston, Frank Howard of Washington and Frank Robinson of the Pirates, who dominated All-Star play for three consecutive years until Willie McCovey and Bench powered the Nationals to a 9-3 romp at Washington last July in a game which produced five home runs, will have their work cut out for them again this time.

Each of the starting lineups is six-deep in long ball hitters, with the Nationals showing a 151-133 advantage in homers to date this season.

Perez and Bench are 1-2 in the majors with 29 and 28 homers, respectively. Allen, with 25, Aaron, 24, Carthy, 23, and Mays, 19, complete the NL big six.

Mays, a .343 hitter in 20 previous showings whose 67 at-bats 30 runs scored and 23 hits are records for the classic, has hit three All-Star homers.

Perez, Bench and Allen have scored one apiece. Aaron has failed to connect in 18 previous games. Carthy will be making his first All-Star appearance.

Killebrew has smacked 36 American League homers this season, two more than Howard. Powell has 23, Yastrzemski 21, Frank Robinson 17 and Freehan 13. Killebrew has hit two in All-Star competition, Howard, Robinson and Freehan one each.

Feeling perhaps a little out of place alongside all the big swingers will be Johnson, with six homers, Aparicio, with three, Beckert, with two, and Kessinger, with just one this year.

But they might note that the first Cincinnati player to unload a homer in Riverfront Stadium, a symmetrical park with 3,300-foot distances down each foul line and a 404-foot line to straightaway center field, was neither Perez, nor Bench, nor any of the Reds' other thumpers. Little Tommy Helms did it the honors, and it was his first homer since the first week of the 1969 season.

While pitchers on both sides try to keep the ball in the park Tuesday night, the National Leaguers will be putting a perfect seven-year defensive record on the line... and on the lightning-fast artificial turf that blankets the Reds' new park.

The Nationals haven't made an error since 1962, when they dropped a 9-4 decision. The American League hasn't won an All-Star Game since then, and the Nationals are 7-5 favorites to make it eight in a row.

The National League leads the series 22-17, with one game ending in a tie.

A crowd of over 51,000 is expected for the 8:15 p.m., EDT game, to be televised nationally by NBC.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Danny Cardinals 7-6 in the 10th inning. Murtaugh may not be using mirrors, but his hunches are working in the Pittsburgh Pirates' surge to the head of the National League's East Division.

The Pirates manager speculated Sunday on what do as Richie Allen batted with Dal Canton, who ahead of the Pirates leading the St. Louis signal had thrown a hanging curve ball Allen lined four over Busch Stadium's leftfield wall. "I'm glad it was hanging," the Pirate reliever said, "Because if it'd been a good pitch he would've hit a homer. Allen just leaps after the ball and overpowers it."

By dispensing of the Cardinal home run hitter with two aboard the Pirates stymied a Cardinal attempt to overcome the 7-4 lead they built in the top of the inning.

"I was fooling around with the knuckle ball at the start of the season, said Dal Canton, who Saturday night delivered a fast ball Allen lagged for a home run.

"They tell me to use it, then they tell me to forget it because it's fouling up my other stuff. I hadn't thrown it for about three weeks."

Dal Canton's save was his first of the season for the sizzling Bucs, who extended the slumping Cardinals' losing spell to seven games.

The flatter ball made a winner of workhorse right-hander Dave Glusti, who survived seven cardinal hits in three innings and ran his record to 7-0 in relief.

The Pirates also boosted their East Division lead to 1 1/2 games, but their 17th triumph in 21 games may have been costly.

Starting pitcher Steve Blass, pitching to Joe Torre, in the second inning, was struck on the right arm by a line drive and suffered a hairline fracture.

Blass, who appeared in the clubhouse after the game with his arm in a sling, said he expects the injury to idle him at least three weeks.

"Unless Bob Moose is able to come back after the All-Star break, we'll be down to three starters," said Murtaugh, whose team opens a four-game series beginning Thursday in new Three Rivers Stadium.

A Battle of 38 players, including seven Pirate zlnbSix Cardinal seven Pirate and six Cardinal pitchers, was decided as Al Oliver ignited the three-run Pirate 10th with a leadoff home

Three-Games Set Tonight

PARMA — The Little League invitational completes first round action tonight at Jackson field after a big five-game weekend stand eliminated Matthews, Canolou, Lilbourn and Marston.

Parma's All-Stars kicked off the tournament Saturday night with a 16-4 win over Matthews behind the two-hit pitching of Billy Cunningham and James Perkins. Don Thatch led the Parma hitters with four hits in five times at bats, slugging a double, triple and grand slam home run.

Campbell and Benton won by forfeits Saturday as Bell City and Dexter failed to show for their games. Benton defeated Campbell 2-1 behind the one-hit, fifteen-strikeout performance of Schlosser in a practice game.

New Madrid's Hayes squashed a Canolou rally in the fifth inning to save the win for Palmer, 5-4. New Madrid led 5-0 going into the fifth when four runs scored on a number of errors, walks and one base hit.

Hornersville pounded Lilbourn pitching for eight hits and 10 runs in the second game and Sunday's action as it moved into the quarterfinals with a 10-3 victory. Gozell led Hornersville hitters with a three-for-four showing at the plate, which included a double. Bibbs checked Lilbourn on four hits, giving up a homer to Shamberger and a triple to Baker.

Gray Ridge-Essex rallied from a 3-0 first inning deficit to trim Marston 9-4 and move into the quarterfinals against Hornersville. Harlan led Gray Ridge-Essex hitting with a double and triple as the team got to Marston pitching for 10 safeties.

Action gets underway tonight at 5 p.m. as Gideon and Bernie square off in the first game that will be followed by a 6:45 contest matching East Prairie against Risco in final first round action.

Parma and Campbell battle in the 8:30 p.m. nightcap in quarterfinal round play.

hooked one apiece. Aaron has failed to connect in 18 previous games. Carty will be making his first All-Star appearance.

Killebrew has smacked 26 American League homers this season, two more than Howard. Powell has 23, Yastrzemski 21, Frank Robinson 17 and Freehan 13. Killebrew has hit two in All-Star competition, Howard, Robinson and Freehan one each.

Feeling perhaps a little out of place alongside all the big swingers will be Johnson, with six homers, Aparicio, with three, Beckert, with two, and Kessinger, with just one this year.

But they might note that the first Cincinnati player to unload a homer in Riverfront Stadium, a symmetrical park with 330feet distances down each foul line and a 404-foot line to straightaway center field, was neither Perez, nor Bench, nor any of the Reds' other thumpers. Little Tommy Helms did it the year before, and it was his home run that first broke

Universe Crown to Latin Miss

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The new Miss Universe, Mariol Malaret Contreras, says one of the judges who chose her to represent Puerto Rico in the international beauty contest later became her boyfriend and is now a sad man.

He realized, she told interviewers Sunday, that he isn't going to see much of her for the next year. "Truly, he is sad. But I'm thrilled, and I think it will be the most wonderful experience of my life," the jade-eyed beauty said.

Garbed in a slinky navy velvet lounge dress, Mariol conducted her first news conference after five hours of sleep.

Refusing to disclose her beau's name, she said, "I enjoy his company and now that I'm Miss Universe I don't know what will happen between us. There sure won't be much time for dates."

Moments after the retiring Miss Universe, Gloria Diaz of the Philippines, placed the glittering crown on Mariol's auburn tresses Saturday night, the 20-year-old winner made two calls to her native Caribbean island.

One went to the mystery man, the other to her elderly aunt and crippled brother, who were celebrating at her home.

Mariol, a secretary and part-time model, said both her parents are dead, and she is the sole support of the aunt who raised her and the 24-year-old brother, who has been crippled since birth.

Mariol's victory brought her $10,000 in cash, a $10,000 personal appearance contract, $6,500 worth of furs, a wardrobe for a year, hairpieces, hosiery, luggage and cosmetics.

But Mariol said in her Spanish accented English: "Now that I have won, it isn't the money that's important to me—it's the experience to come."

"Just being around all those girls from other places and different backgrounds has taught me a little about how people everywhere are basically the same."

"It was a beautiful feeling, and it showed me there is a real love power among human beings."

"So this year I plan to give that love power to everybody I meet—just throw it around all over the world."

Mariol defeated 63 other contestants, Miss U.S.A., Debbie Shelton of Norfolk, Va., was first runnerup.

Danforth Sees '70s As Challenging Time

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo. (AP) —Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth said Saturday that "as we enter the '70s, few times in our history, it seems, have we faced such challenges."

Danforth said elected representatives have a special responsibility to the American people in the '70s and must stand ready to make a maximum contribution to seeing that government performs the way it should.

He made the remarks in a speech prepared for delivery at the 100th anniversary birthday celebration of Poplar Bluff in connection with his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the U. S. Senate.

"While the American democratic process remains one of history's most effective and compassionate exercises in government," Danforth said, "we have somehow fallen short in many areas of our basic objective to insure a better quality of life for all in our country."

"Ironically, one contributing factor has been the very face of our advanced technology in America ... this has made us more dependent upon one another than ever before."

"Our modern, complex machinery is in constant need of repair. We simply cannot get along without a certain interdependence made necessary by the realities of our modern, mechanized society."

Danforth said Americans have become increasingly aware and concerned citizens in a complex age because of increasing levels of education. "In turn," he expalined "this awareness and concern have tended to breed a certain frustration, even anger, among increasing numbers of Americans in the face of our continuing problems."

"like the old scarecrow, tin man and cowardly lion in the 'Wizard of Oz,' we have been told to go to Washington for heart, brains and courage. But no government, however nobly conceived, has ever been able to perform efficiently without the continuous commitment and participation of the people."

Pay Raise for Cape Employees

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. — A 10 per cent, across-the-board pay increase retroactive to June 30 has been given all Cape Girardeau municipal employees.

The City Council, in taking the action, scrapped a salary schedule which would have provided much smaller increases and announced a new schedule will be worked out to become effective next year.

Mayor Howard Tooke said the raises can be put into effect with a minimum of tax increase. The amount of tax hike, however, will not be decided until completion of the city budget later this month and may not be necessary at all, the mayor said.

He explained there is a built-in surplus in the city's general revenue fund and with this and by certain budget reductions it may be possible to grant the pay raise without an increase in taxes.

JACKSON — Scott County Circuit Judge Marshall Craig has been appointed to hear the case of Bobby Lee Williams of Cape Girardeau, charged with carrying a concealed weapon.

Williams, connected with the Cape Girardeau United Front, is accused of carrying a pistol and shotgun in his car last November.

The case was set for trial in June but was continued indefinitely by Judge Statler upon motion of defense attorney Richard E. Snider who contended the community was in such an inflammatory mood that it would be impossible for Williams to get a fair trial.

Armed Forces

On June 30 the fiscal year of 1970 ended and most government agencies closed their books on another 12-month period. The St. Louis Armed Forces Examining and Entrance Station (AFEEES), located at 12th and Spruce Streets can look back on the past fiscal year as a busy one.

Lieutenant Colonel Carl M. Nestler, the AFEEES Commandant, revealed that the station processed 17,521 men and women who applied for enlistment in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force. Selective Service Boards numbered 27,407. These figures represented an increase of 499 from the preceding fiscal year, which ended June 30, 1969, of 44,429 examinations.

The St. Louis AFEEES is a Department of Defense activity managed by the Army through the U.S. Army Recruiting Command. The Station is manned by 30 military personnel and 31 federal civil service employees. Military personnel come from all four services. The civilian work force is girded by the Army and comes generally from the local area.

Payrolls for both military and civilian personnel amounted to more than $356,000 during the fiscal year just ended.

The St. Louis AFEEES is one of 74 stations located in major population centers in the United States, Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico. They Provided Physical and mental testing for more than 2 million examinees during 1970. Physical and mental standards are set by the Department of Defense for all services.

Songwriter L. W. Gilbert Dies of Stroke

LOS ANGELES (AP) —The songwriter Congress once named "Dean of American Composers" and who turned out the classics "Ramona" and "Waitin' for the Robert E. Lee" is dead of a stroke at age 83.

L. Wolfe Gilbert died Sunday in a convalescent home after a year's illness.

"America has no folk music because America has no folk," he once told an interviewer. "It's a melange, a potpourri, born of the soil."

In 1927 Gilbert started writing a song the moment Charles A. Lindbergh began his historic flight across the Atlantic. "Lucky Lindy," became a national hit. "Green Eyes" was another of Gilbert's top tunes.

Is LACK OF HOT WATER A DAILY IRRITATION? THERE'S AN EASY SOLUTION

Does your family run out of hot water when bathing and chores such as dishwashing or laundry are being handled at the same time?

This can be a constant irritation -- but never is a hot water shortage more glaringly apparent than during housecleaning time or when a new baby joins the family.

The solution is simple says the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau. Its a bigger capacity water heater with a faster recovery rate -- which refers to the speed at which hot water is replenished in the tank. 911 emergency telephone number

Most manufacturers build such long life into their water heaters that one may be working at high efficiency from the mechanical standpoint long after its gallon capacity has lagged behind the growing needs of your family. This lag makes that particular heater obsolete as far as serving your family is concerned.

If you're planning to buy a new water heater this year, avoid the pitfall of getting one that's simply "larger" than the one you now have. Ask your plumbing contractor to figure your existing and anticipated water needs and allow for them accurately. This includes all your present plumbed-in appliances, plus any you hope to buy in the next five or six years.

If you're a young couple planning additions to the family remember that babies mean daily laundering, so take that into consideration too.

Five Youths Support
Vote for 18 -Year - Olds

By JUDY STROUP
Five area youths, all between 18 and 20, support lowering the voting age.
The youths were active in said they felt that county and organizations in their high state officials will be responsible schools and are beginning to the new youth bloc of voters. continuing their college careers this fall.
One youth stated that candidates will have to campaign harder for the 18-year-old vote, not satisfied with county because that group could easily tip the scales in a close election.
Miss Susan Wreather, Oran, says she feels that the 18-year-old vote is "a pretty good idea. Three years don't make that much difference. Eighteen-year-olds in this day are well informed."
Jack Spears, Sikeston, commented that "colleges have had political pull with the candidates; but maybe those over 21 will listen to what the students have to say since they have the right to vote. It will be a change on campus."
The youths said that most of the persons between the ages of 18 and 20 that they know feel the 18-year-old vote is "a good thing."

AVIATION AUTHORITIES
PLAN STATEWIDE AIRPORT
SYSTEM
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. —
Aviation officials in Jefferson City last week put the final touches on a comprehensive plan to establish and maintain a statewide airport system in Missouri.
John A. Owens, aviation director within the Commerce and Industrial Development Division, said guidelines for airport managers and municipalities will be released next month. Basically, they will define how and where airports should be developed throughout the state.

The session came one week snowed under. Even with his after the Airport and Airway plane he can't get around to all Development Act took effect on the projects we're working on. July 1. Committed to spending Also, we should have a at least $250 million on airport permanent planner," Owens construction and improvement said.
Third, some means has to be found for the state to raise nationwide system of public matching funds for federal airports adequate to meet the airport assistance. Owens said Missouri could get $10 million annually from the Department of Transportation during the next ten years. To receive that support, the state would have to collect $5 million on its own each year. As unpopular as tax boosts are, the aviation director said, "I don't see how we're going to raise the money."
Far less attention will be given to building new airports than to improving those already in existence. Communities need a great deal of money to expand runways and taxiways, lengthen their airports, Owens said.
His assistance, Ralph Hibdon, aid the aviation section this year received only $100,000 from the state legislature to help develop Missouri's airports, an amount he described as "peanuts."
"We're inadequate, to be honest with you," Hibdon said. "There are only five of us on the staff."
The aviation section tucked away in the Commerce and Industrial Development Division of the giant Business and Administration Department-- includes two secretaries, plus Owens, Hibdon and Moore.
To improve the situation, Owens said he will seek a bill during the next session of the General Assembly which would expand the power and jurisdiction of this section.
The new federal law also requires that many cities, which today rely on local fire departments to protect their airports, will have to supply "firefighting and rescue equipment" at airport terminals.
An examination of safety rules currently used by Missouri airports reveals that neither the state nor the FAA has ever maintained regulations which require or define minimum standards for airport safety.
Missouri has no formal aviation program and "no safety regulations at all," Hibdon said. "Missouri is very backward. It has neither airport safety inspectors nor the power to issue airport licenses, unlike many other states. Yet, some 4,690 aircraft and 15,900 pilots operate in Missouri."
Adding up all the airports in the state-- from mowed fields to paved airstrips -- Hibdon counts roughly 300.
Many will be directly affected by the certification clause of the new Airport and Airway Development Act. It requires every airport serving public air carriers to obtain from the FAA an "operations certificate," which will stipulate that proper safety equipment be kept on hand.
Before the FAA issues operation certificates to airports, it will carefully consider the availability of safety apparatus. Furthermore, within two years public airport operations will be prohibited without FAA certification.
Bill Knoepfle of the FAA regional office in Kansas City said the FAA has never had any rules calling for safety equipment to be on hand. Usually, air lines specify their own requirements which vary from one airport to another, he said.
In some cases, the requirements are practically zero," he said.
The vice president of operations for Ozark Airlines in St. Louis, Grant Rees, said his company does not impose strict safety standards upon airports. Most of the airports it serves are close enough to towns with assistance facilities, he said.
Ozark flies to Kansas City, St. Louis, Springfield, Columbia, Kirksville, Cape Girardeau, Ft. Leonard Wood and Joplin in the state. But three of those airports lack firefighting and rescue equipment -- Joplin, Kirksville and Columbia Regional. If airport fires occurred at the latter two, they would have to call fire departments seven and 10 miles away, respectively.
Still, Rees thinks airport safety should be regulated by a strong state department of aviation. "That's what we need in Missouri," he said.
Missouri presently leans entirely on the FAA for safety regulation. Yet, ever since the FAA was founded in 1938, it has been issuing safety certificates only for airmen, public air carriers, private planes and aircraft equipment. Nothing covered airports.
That will change under the new federal law. By September, Knoepfle says he expects to have concrete airport regulations prepared.
And Hibdon says the state faces substantial adjustments.

Asked if this nonavailability of quick firefighting service concerns his company, Rees said, "We would encourage the city to have firefighting equipment. But, we have not, as a company, insisted that they get it."
If we insisted on their providing a fire truck, for instance, they'd get one," he continued. "But we'd pay for it in the end" because landing fees and parking rentals would go up.
So we have to be careful how we handle the matter," he said. "We can't subsidize all these communities."
Nor does Hibdon know of any state statutes which deal with aviation operations or safety seriously.
"We're going to have to really sit down to make a complete study," he said. "What we've done so far is very basic. We'll have to study Nebraska, Illinois and Iowa, where they have good working programs."

The Daily Standard, Sikeston, Mo.
Monday, July 13, 1970
"Montana doesn't have one third the airports we do," Hibdon said, "yet it has a much better aviation program. It also maintains a book of aviation laws and regulations. We don't have anything like that."
Nor does Hibdon know of any state statutes which deal with aviation operations or safety seriously.
"We're going to have to really sit down to make a complete study," he said. "What we've done so far is very basic. We'll have to study Nebraska, Illinois and Iowa, where they have good working programs."

Crisis In The Rail Industry

WASHINGTON -- A comprehensive program of "creative federal involvement" was proposed by the nation's railroads today to meet "the crisis in the rail industry."

Calling for a national policy that treats all forms of transportation evenly, the program was developed by America's Sound Transportation Review Organization (ASTRO), established last fall by the Association of American Railroads to make an exhaustive study of present problems and future transportation needs.

Recommended were updated laws and regulatory procedures that would free railroads from restraints of the past; financial help on rights-of-way and equipment, recognizing that railroads can no longer perform their essential job without support such as their competitors have received; expanded federal research, and a rational approach to passenger service.

The recommendations were contained in a report released at a news conference by former Florida Sen. George A. Smathers, general counsel for ASTRO, and Thomas M. Goodfellow, AAR president.

The 82-page report pointed out that the country's dependence on railroads will grow but added that "it is starkly ironic railroads have reached a low point in strength just as their national importance is being even more keenly sensed."

"The crisis in the rail industry is that it is rapidly losing its ability to find the money it needs for growth," ASTRO said.

Noting that the industry should spend the "staggering" sum of $36 billion on capital improvements between now and 1980, the report said present earnings "are totally inadequate to sustain needed investment for the future, even with massive borrowings."

It rejected nationalization of the railroads as a solution. This "would entail enormous cost to the taxpayers," ASTRO said. It cited estimates that put the cost of acquiring railroad facilities along as high as $60 billion, leaving "untouched the great capital needs of the industry."

In pledging industry need for cooperation "to assist the Penn Central and preserve an integrated rail network," Mr. Goodfellow told the news conference that the Penn Central's recent bankruptcy "has on all commodities, except created a new sense of urgency certain agricultural products."

"The problems now engulfing the Penn Central are not unique," he continued. "Other railroads also face grave difficulties."

The AAR president endorsed the Department of Transportation's emergency transportation companies legislation for guaranteed loans combining land, air and water to railroads, but added that "long-range solutions to deep-seated problems of the industry must be developed if the railroads are to meet the tremendous demands of the beneficiaries of huge government public in the coming decade."

To develop these solutions, Mr. Goodfellow said, the AAR must be developed if the railroads are to meet the tremendous demands of the beneficiaries of huge government public in the coming decade.

The ASTRO findings, he thought, "no less than other reported, were unanimously modes, the rail industry must adopted last Friday by the AAR also be abreast of technology if board of directors which, "in it is to survive."

Senator Smathers said that freight and passenger service, "the problems of the railroads can be laid directly to chartered corporation to run government favoritism of other industry trains was seen as the modes and the constraints it has overdue vehicle for rationalizing imposed over the years on the intercity rail passenger railroad industry."

"Any course of action which experimentation was described ignores these conditions will be as necessary to determine the short-lived. Failure to cope with future of corridor operations. The outmoded federal policies and. The ASTRO report, Senator Smathers noted, "covers many government policy, it also areas and will engage all declared that "railroad branches of government, as well management and labor must as the industry itself, in make their own positive thorough appraisal of commitments" to the solution transportation policy."

Distributed in mimeographed form, the report dealt first with up by Executive Director Robert the need for equalized W. Blanchette, on leave from government treatment of rights-Penn Central. Other key members were Richard E. Briggs, ASTRO pointed out that senior policy analyst, and Dr. only the railroads are required to Burton N. Behling, AAR vice pay the entire cost of president - economics and constructing and maintaining the facilities they use and at the same time pay taxes on them.

To place all modes on the same footing, Congress was urged to:

- * Establish a single transportation fund, to be used by all modes in furthering a balanced transportation system.
- * Eliminate state and local property taxes on railroad rights-of-way since there are none on competitors' facilities.
- * Expand use of road funds to eliminate highway-railway grade crossing hazards since this is essentially a highway problem.
- * Guarantee up to $400 million annually in loans for improvements to railroad rights-of-way.
- * Because an adequate equipment supply is also essential to the nation's commerce, ASTRO urged that railroads be assisted in acquiring needed locomotives and cars they're unable to provide on their own. It proposed that the government:
- * Guarantee loans for such purchases.
- * Advance the 20 per cent down payment required for the most advantageous financing and reimburse railroads for interest.
- * Create a non-profit corporation to acquire a "free running" fleet of general purpose, unassigned freight cars.
- * Restore the investment tax credit for railroad equipment.

Just as it advocated balanced treatment of transportation facilities, ASTRO also made recommendations for even-handed regulatory practices and laws.

It proposed creation of a single regulatory agency to oversee all modes. Under current law, the report said, several

Juvenile Delinquency A La Iron Curtain

By V. DAVYDENKO

Ukrainian Review

The constantly growing problem of juvenile delinquency and immorality which causes such unrest in Western society is not restricted to the West only. This problem is a canker in the whole of the contemporary world, countries ruled by the Communists included.

So also in the Soviet Union - a country in which Communist propaganda not all so long ago had announced with victorious fanfares that this problem was almost solved - this ringing note so sure of victory has been somewhat altered. It is no wonder therefore that even in the Soviet press, which certainly knows how to disguise reality in every possible way and to mask the shady side of life, a permanent column devoted to crimes was introduced.

But what of the nature of this communist analysis of young people? We would like to consider it somewhat more closely in the following lines.

In the Kyiv Robitnycha hazeta (Workers' Newspaper) we read, in the Sept. 8, 1965, edition:

"Kremenchuk. Evening: Young married couple on their way home. Suddenly they were attacked by five youths, beaten without reason and stabbed with knives. On the very same evening the malefactors attacked two further people. Only after this were they arrested by the police." I. Bondarenko, deputy Minister for Protection of Public Order in the Soviet Ukraine, who wrote this article, also pointed out that similar instances had occurred in the regions of Kyiv, Ternopil, Kharkiv, Chernihiv, existed in abundance.

The semi-official organ of the Central Committee of the CPSU, Pravda, dated 11 May, 1965, tells of a military doctor who attempted in Rostov on the Don to defend a girl against young louts. "Vit'ka, hit him" shouted one of them, and they all fell upon the doctor, threw him to the ground and trampled on him. A crowd of gaping spectators gathered round, following the scene without doing or saying anything, as if a circus programme were taking place before their eyes. "Help, comrades!" called the half-conscious doctor.

"Why are you fighting with children?" screamed a woman hysterically from the crowd.

In Pravda of 6 June, 1965, we read of an 18-year-old youth, Sorokun, who attacked and cruelly beat the Komsomol official, Tokarenko, and the girl he was with; we read of a certain Sporykhin who completely in the open threatened a waitress in a restaurant with a knife; of a group of drivers who formed a criminal gang and robbed passers-by.

The Literaturnaya Gazeta (No. 45) informs us: on July 8, 1965, L. Tsytosin, K. Grishin, M. Lupadin and V. Ilytskyi killed an engineer, A. Havrylenko, in Kharkiv, in No. 39, Ordzhonikidze Prospect on the steps about midnight. Reason: after he had seen the youths a little drunk, he would not let them enter the house next door, where he had hidden their terrified girl friend.

Not long ago one could read in the Soviet press a report, certainly not very clear, of an attack on a police station by louts. In fact it wasn't an attack, but a siege which lasted some hours. It would seem clear that such an operation could hardly be carried out simply with a knife; but they were probably not "Teddy Boys" but rather "Freedom fighters," who had been confused with deliberate evil intent with the term "Teddy Boys."

In the newspaper Molod Ukrainy (Young of Ukraine) we read of a young man, who had run away from his school and organized in the forest, near Ivano-Frankivsk, a "centre," which later on performed all kinds of "merry pranks" in the whole district. In time this centre split into two feuding groups. What actually is meant by "merry pranks" is not mentioned by the newspaper.

It is interesting that the majority of comments on reports of this kind give boredom as the cause of these vicious actions. Thus one of the arrested members of Ivano-Frankivsk's gang said to the examining judge:

"Everything is terribly boring in our street. I tried a few dozen houses in Karl Marx street, in the Sovietskiy district of Moscow and stood also in the squares, and everywhere I was met by this oppressive, grey boredom."

Disillusion with life and people, lack of ideas, and spiritual emptiness are complained of in some letters to the editors of Soviet newspapers. Thus we read for example in Izvestia of 16 June, 1965, a letter from 16-year-old student, Rai K.

"I am disgusted by all the talk about people with glorious souls. I just cannot believe in it any more. Indeed, are there such people at all? Once I did believe in the beautiful, in the bright and the pure, but whomever I meet, he is either a cynic or an egoist. I have even tried to do something useful for mankind. But I couldn't help seeing that none at all paid the slightest attention. Now I simply do not interest myself at all any more. I live like a hermit..."

In the same newspaper, a young teacher from Kerch, whose name was not given, wrote on 13 May, 1965:

"Dear comrades! Listen to me! I cannot go on. I am one of the young pioneer leaders who was later an active worker among the Communist youth and who believed that tomorrow communism would arrive. I also tried to implant this conviction into my school children. Unfortunately many of them find my optimism completely incomprehensible and even for me it has become rather hard after difficult and heated disputes, to keep it up. All that the school children say is right and they say a lot..."

This is no longer a case of a gang, of boredom, but the clear consequences of this vacuum of ideas, in which Communist youth finds itself today.

After the campaign carried out in the Soviet Union against the Teddy Boys, under the slogan of "Make the ground under their feet hot!" and "Law-breakers are to be mercilessly punished!", among others, the attitude in the party has to all appearances been altered.

In July, 1965, the editor of the Kharkiv monthly Prapor (The Banner) organized a special conference, attended by the trustees, lawyers, representatives of Komsomol, police, writers, and teachers. The whole tone of this conference differed radically from the dogmas under which the struggle against juvenile delinquency was carried on not so long before.

Although in the report in Prapor there is no lack of hackneyed propaganda phrases directed against the West (e.g. "In the stone jungles of America every five minutes some murders, robberies and rapes take place" and "the difference between rich and poor") the previous, official explanation for juvenile delinquency in the USSR is rejected.

"The juridical dogmatists" we read in the journal "have for a long time always claimed that crime in our state can be traced back to the last vestiges of surviving capitalism. The obvious nonsense of this claim is clear to see: a part of the malefactors is formed by young people who know nothing at all of the spirit of capitalism; consequently they cannot be infected by its germ."

The Soviet authorities are now coming round to the view that "the causes of this anti-social behaviour are to be sought not only in the negative influences of the past or from abroad."

It was stated at the conference that such "crimes as vicious roddiness, murder and rape occur even in the case of those with relatively high standards of living," and also in the case of children of the "New Class," about which Dijas has written. The lawyer, Z. Drunin, who also took part in the conference, stated that during his 20 years as a lawyer "There were very few cases where the young delinquents came from the poor classes. What happened was the opposite: excessive wealth was in most cases to blame."

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS

Whatever you get, get insight.—(Prov. 4:7).

With our every breath we make a decision. Every breath affirms life. Decisions are so much an integral part of us that we hardly recognize the fact that we are making them.

With God's help we can build good judgment from within.

By our prayerful thoughts, establish a pattern of procedure from which we are motivated.

This becomes the truth about us, and we find we are aligned with the light of Christ.

Tuberculosis Claims Life of Burdine Crow

50 Years Ago

Burdine Crow, son of the Rev. and Mrs. H.P. Crowe of Sikeston, ended his earthly life at the Illinois Valley Sanitarium in Ottawa, Ill., last Sunday morning, after an illness of many months with tuberculosis.

Louis Waltemate of Doniphan, well known in Sikeston, was killed in an airplane accident at Tuscaloosa, Ala., last Sunday while flying in the clouds with a passenger. Both lost their lives. According to information received by Capt. Lyle Malone, for whom Waltemate formerly acted as pilot, the young aviator had taken a passenger into the air at Tuscaloosa to observe a thunderstorm. They had ascended about 3,500 feet from the ground and into the clouds, when the many people who were watching them saw one wing of the plane collapse as though struck by lightning. The plane immediately began to descend.

A company of National Guard of Missouri will be organized at the city hall in Sikeston this evening, according to plans laid by a number of ex-service men and other young fellows who have been working toward this end for the past few weeks.

"Remember the Girl in Your Old Home Town," a song that is credited with having stopped the marriage of the Yankee soldier and French girl and has been mentioned in the press across the continent and around the world, was brought to Sikeston, Tuesday, by Sgt. Even though street corner thermometers maintain that Wednesday brought the mercury to a new high of 108 to 120 degrees, the official bulb in the State Grain Inspection office insists that the high for Wednesday was only 106.

Probe Planned

Into Lutheran

Bible Teaching

CLAYTON, Mo. (AP)—The president of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod plans to investigate the teaching practices of more than a dozen instructors at Concordia Seminary who allegedly have told students in the largest Lutheran seminary in the world that the Bible contains errors.

"I simply want to find out myself what the situation is. If the charges are not substantiated, then those who are making them ought to cease and desist," The Rev. Dr. Jacob A.O. Preus said Sunday.

He said the investigation will begin this fall and will involve criticism that some teachers tell students that such biblical accounts as that of man's creation, the existence of Adam and Eve and Jonah being swallowed by a whale are in error, the Rev. Mr. Preus said.

Criticism of the professors' statements concerning the Bible have been made by church conservatives who have demanded that Dr. Preus take action to remove liberal professors from Lutheran seminaries.

If You Were the Judge To Witness Means to See Something Done

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.
Herman was so cautious, he'd pulled down the shades to change even his mind. When he decided to make a will, for example, he had two friends witness his signature without telling them the nature of the document he had signed. He first folded over the will, so that no part of it was visible, and then he signed and the witnesses signed.

When Herman died, it developed that he had salted away a large estate. As a result, several of his relatives, who had been disinherited, attempted to break his will.

"To be valid," they argued, "a will must be witnessed. And a witness must know what he is witnessing; otherwise he's not a witness. In this case, Herman's witnesses didn't know whether Herman was signing a will or the Declaration of Independence."

"That's ridiculous," responded the executor of Herman's estate. "A will is a personal and private document. If a person wants his will kept entirely under wraps, so that no one knows what they will receive upon his death, that's his privilege. To will or not to will, that's his secret."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you uphold the validity of Herman's secret will?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that "to witness" mean to see something done. In this case, concluded the judge, Herman's witnesses didn't see him sign his alleged will since they didn't know what he was signing. While they saw him sign something, they didn't know the nature of the document signed. (Based upon a 1960 Iowa Supreme Court Decision)

Paper Threatens Mandamus Suit

CARUTHERSVILLE — The Pemiscot County Publishing Co. newspapers announced that the company would file a mandamus suit against Caruthersville Judge H. G. Sprague for closing the court records to the news media, however, a spokesman for the company indicated the suit would not be filed due to late developments.

The Democrat - Argus editor said a telephone call was received from Judge Sprague this morning indicating he would resign from his post. Following the telephone call, however, the judge and mayor Bill Inman were in a lengthy conference and could not be contacted for confirmation of this.

Caruthersville radio station manager Cleat Stanfill said Mayor Inman indicated before noon today that Judge Sprague "was trying to resign," however gave no elaboration on the statement.

Thursday's issue of the Democrat-Argus stated the judge had declined to open city court records to the newspaper or radio station. The newspaper reported: "The decision by Judge Sprague came following an editorial 'More Dog Problems' which was printed last week, and which Judge Sprague said was a 'complete lie.'"

The editor in question stated that Judge Sprague had torn up a ticket issued for violating the dog ordinance of the city.

The Democrat-Argus told The Daily Democrat today that "the mandamus suit was to have been filed in the circuit court this morning, however, in view of Judge Sprague's call stating he would resign, we're waiting on official word. If he resigns, the suit won't be filed."

Ben Hogan, Democrat-Argus editor, said court records have been reported to their newspaper for over 100 years, "and as far as we know, this is the first time the books have ever been closed to the public."

The editorial in question stated that Judge Sprague had torn up a ticket issued for violating the dog ordinance of the city.

JEFFERSON CITY — Larry Dixon, crusade chairman, American Cancer Society, Missouri division, announces that the amount raised to date in Missouri's 1970 Cancer Crusade stands at slightly over $966,000.

"It is with particular pride in the well over 50,000 American Cancer Society volunteers who have participated, and the many thousands who contributed to this year's crusade that I make this announcement," Dixon said. "We began our crusade with what amounted to a 'crisis' on all sides. We faced increased needs in research, service and education, decreased

The amendment, if approved August 4, would enable the State Highway Commission to construct turnpike facilities through the issuance of revenue bonds.

'Hidden Opposition' Plagues Nixon

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) President Nixon has deep, unpublicized internal problems within his administration.

These difficulties within the major Departments and agencies are potentially far more dangerous to the success of his term in office than the opposition he faces in Congress.

What is involved essentially is near sabotage by a considerable number of higher officials just below the sub-cabinet level—in the so-called super grades.

Since hearing of this problem from contacts in the government, this reporter has moved from agency to agency and into the major departments to see how widespread this situation is. Some of the men interviewed are oldtimers to the ways of Washington. Some are newcomers. But their stories are strikingly similar.

This report does not refer to the open petitions and statements in opposition which have been heavily publicized in the press. Nor does it refer to privately held opinions critical of Nixon which his opponents voice at dinner with friends. What is happening is far more serious.

Regularly in a number of departments and agencies, key officials slow down White House programs, or specific aspects, they don't agree with. They "massage" the paper work and "massage" it again, working it over and sending it back and forth for further checks and conferences—so that action is forever delays. Things don't get done.

These same men run down White House programs in open group meetings with their subordinates. They repeatedly make degrading remarks about this action or that, or this official or that. They openly ridicule members of their staffs and men from other agencies who argue for the President's programs. This effectively wears down morale.

When a man in a policy spot makes plans to leave his job, they hold up their report to personnel until they have found a replacement from within their own camp.

Former President Johnson has spoken of the tearing down from within he says was done during his term by holdover appointments from the Kennedy administration.

It would be easy to say holdovers are causing Nixon's problems. But that would not be true.

Much of the hidden opposition comes from men appointed since Nixon came into office. Some are Republicans, some Democrats and some independent. Some are the proteges of Nixon's opponents within the Republican party.

Most of these men are presidential appointees and could be removed by the President. Some have been. Most have not.

Honorable men in policy posts would resign if they could not carry out the program of a president with whom they conscientiously disagree.

After leaving his job, a man in strong disagreement could with dignity fight what he could not support. The men mentioned above, however, have chosen another course.

Man of 62 Finds

Rapport As Collegian

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—John McCaskey's credentials are strictly establishment; a retired banker and former artillery officer. But he has found rapport with the young generation.

In fact McCaskey's classmates at Missouri Western College elected him senior class secretary, age 62; classmates average age, 22.

McCaskey was a member of the first graduating class of Missouri Western last month. He was awarded a Bachelor of Arts Degree with a major in education and history.

McCaskey also owns a Bachelor of Science degree in engineering from MIT. He earned that one in 1929.

In addition, Army Major McCaskey, retired, was graduated from the Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., in 1947.

In between, this native of St. Joseph has served as president of Home bank at nearby Savannah, Mo., spent five years overseas in World War II, and retired in 1966 as vice president of the First National Bank and Trust Co. in St. Joseph.

ACT NOW—YOUR ENROLLMENT FORM MUST BE MAILED BY MIDNIGHT, THURS., JULY 16, OR IT CANNOT BE ACCEPTED

ONE out of two families will have someone in the hospital this year! It could be you—or some beloved member of your family—tomorrow...next week...next month. Sad to say, very few families have anywhere near enough coverage to meet today's soaring hospital costs. These costs have doubled in just a few short years. They are expected to double again in the few years ahead.

Stop for a moment. Think how much a long stay in the hospital will cost you or a loved one. How would you ever pay for costly, but necessary, X-rays, doctor bills, drugs and medicines? What would you do if your pay check stopped, but living expenses kept going on the same as ever? The same rent, phone, food, all the day-to-day expenses that never stop.

What is the average breadwinner to do? We believe we have the answer in our National Home plan that...

Pays you $400.00-a-month tax-free cash whenever you are hospitalized.

What a blessing it is when you know you have $400.00 cash coming in every month when you go to the hospital.

Now, this low-cost plan from National Home enables you to enjoy this protection at once. Your introductory rate is just 25¢ for the first month's coverage for your entire family. Then, you may continue at National Home's regular low rates.

The added protection you NEED!

All benefits of this $400.00-a-month plan are paid directly to you, in tax-free cash, in addition to whatever you may receive from your insurance with any other company! Use the money as you see fit—for hospital or doctor bills, mortgage or rent payments, to replace savings—or any necessary, but costly, expenses not covered fully by other hospital policies.

Everything costs more these days (need we tell you?) and hospital care is certainly no exception! While 7 out of 8 Americans have some hospital insurance, most have found it does not cover all bills that pile up when sickness or accident strikes. That's why National Home developed this low-cost plan that helps you pay hospital costs or other expenses.

You get your $400.00-a-month cash—tax-free—as long as you are confined in the hospital. You are covered from the very first day—for as long as you are confined to the hospital—even for life, if necessary! And remember, this National Home policy pays tax-free cash direct to you in addition to whatever you receive from any other protection you carry—Blue Cross, Blue Shield, even Medicare if you're 65 or over.

We can never cancel your policy!

You can count on this wonderful protection no matter how old you become or how many times you collect from us. Your policy guarantees that we can never cancel your protection for any reason whatsoever. It is Guaranteed Renewable for Life!

And that's not all. Suppose you have a growing family—this policy (NH10-669)...

Pays you $240.00-a-month cash whenever any dependent child is hospitalized.

When you choose Coverage for Children, all your dependent, unmarried children from age one month through 18 years are

- PAYS $400.00-A-MONTH CASH for each accident or illness... beginning the very first day in the hospital—and continuing for life, if necessary!
- PAYS $200.00-A-MONTH CASH for the first three months when you're 65 or over, and a full $400.00-A-MONTH CASH thereafter—even for life!
- PAYS $240.00-A-MONTH CASH if a covered child is hospitalized for injury or illness. And the benefits continue for as long as necessary.
- PAYS $1,600.00-A-MONTH CASH when both husband and wife (under age 65) are hospitalized at the same time for accidental injury for as long as both remain in the hospital—even for life!
- PAYS $400.00-A-MONTH CASH for a Registered Nurse if your doctor has you hire one within five days following a covered hospital confinement of five days or more.
- PAYS up to $2,000.00 CASH for complete accidental loss of limbs or eyesight.

65 OR OVER? YOU COLLECT IN ADDITION TO MEDICARE BENEFITS

We have designed this plan as a valuable addition to whatever is paid by Medicare—or health insurance you may have with any other companies. Remember, all checks will be sent directly to you (not to the doctor or hospital), to give you that "extra" help just when you need it most. Use the tax-free cash any way you see fit. In addition to any benefits you may receive from Medicare, this National Home plan pays you at the rate of $200.00 a month for the first 3 months, and $400.00 monthly while hospitalized thereafter... even for life, if necessary!

covered, too! What's more, any newborn children you have in the future are covered automatically at the age of one month—at no additional cost to you. And whenever any of your children go to the hospital—for removal of tonsils or appendix, for any illness or injury—this National Home plan pays you at the rate of $240.00-a-month cash, for as long as necessary.

Pays you tax-free cash Maternity Benefits, too.

With this plan, you can also collect cash at the rate of $400.00 a month for every day you are confined to the hospital for pregnancy, childbirth, or even miscarriage. You get this cash, which is yours to use as you see fit, when Coverage for Children and Maternity Benefits have been added to the basic plan. Of course, both parents must be enrolled in this plan for the entire period of pregnancy.

Pays you up to $4,800.00 cash for a Registered Nurse at Home.

Here's a wonderful "get well" benefit of this National Home plan: You collect cash benefits at the rate of $400.00 a month when your doctor has you employ a full-time registered nurse within five days after you come home, following a stay in the hospital of five days or more for which benefits were payable. You are actually paid for every day you were in the hospital—even up to 12 full months!

Double Cash Accident Benefit.

When you and your insured spouse are hospitalized at the same time for an accidental injury, this National Home plan pays you an EXTRAORDINARY DOUBLE CASH BENEFIT. You receive not $400.00 but $800.00 a month. Your spouse receives not $400.00 but $800.00 a month. That's $1,600.00 in all, in cash pay direct to you every month (when under age 65) starting the day you enter the hospital for as long as you both remain there.

Pays you up to $2,000.00 cash for these accidental losses...

The accidental loss of limbs or eyesight can be terrible. But if such loss occurs any time within 90 days of the accident, you collect $1,000.00 for the complete loss of a hand or a foot or the sight of an eye—and $2,000.00 for loss of two limbs or the sight of both eyes.

Waiver of premium benefit.

Should you—the policyowner—be hospitalized for 8 consecutive weeks or more, this National Home plan will PAY ALL PREMIUMS that come due for you and all Covered Members of your family while you are confined to the hospital beyond the initial 8-week period. And your protection continues just the same as if you were paying the premiums yourself. Then, if you leave the hospital and must return for the same condition before you have resumed full normal activities for 90 days, we will again pay any premiums while you are in the hospital—for the total confinement! This means you pay no premiums, yet your full protection remains in force.

These are the ONLY exclusions!

Your National Home policy covers every kind of sickness or accident except conditions caused by: act of war; any mental disease or disorder; pregnancy, except as provided under the Maternity Benefit provision; and any sickness or injury you had before the Effective Date of your policy... during the first 2 years only. This last item is a real help if you already have a health problem. If you are sick before you take out this policy, you will even be covered for that condition after the policy has been in effect for 2 years. Meanwhile, of course, every new condition is covered.

Nationally known and respected.

This is the kind of outstanding protection you have read about in Reader's Digest, Parents, National Geographic and other leading publications. The special plans offered by the National Liberty Corporation group of companies are today helping policyowners in all 50 states—and many foreign countries—paying benefits at the rate of more than $1,500,000.00 a month. In addition, our Company has a RECOMMENDED rating from Best's Insurance Reports, one of the foremost insurance authorities in the nation.

Fast, reliable claim service when needed most.

You never really know how good a policy is until you have to make a claim. That's why we think you'll be interested in what some of our National Home members have to say. Their comments—quoted below—are typical of the hundreds of expressions of appreciation we receive from policyowners every week...

"Received your check for $880.00. I appreciate having the money sent directly to me so I could decide how to use it."

NICHOLAS CRISTL, Green Bay, Wisc.

"It was wonderful to receive your check for $555.00. I'm very pleased. It paid real well."

MRS. BESSIE GEISINGER, Kansas City, Mo.

"Everyone should have your coverage. I know I wouldn't be without it."

WALTER TUCKER, Fayetteville, N.C.

Outstanding Americans Like these Recommend this Coverage.

DR. E. STANLEY JONES, internationally known evangelist, author, missionary statesman: "In offering low-cost health insurance by mail, you are rendering a valuable service to thousands of people who have no other opportunity to avail themselves of such protection. It's reassuring to know that policyowners insured by the National Liberty group are receiving more than $1,500,000.00 a month in benefits."

LT. GEN. W. K. HARRISON, U.S. Army (Retired): "People benefit in many ways when they purchase insurance direct by mail from National Home Life Assurance Company. They save money through lower rates. No salesman calls. And no medical examination is required. I consider it a sensible, economical way to increase one's health protection in these days of mounting hospital and medical costs."

JEROME HINES, leading bass with the Metropolitan Opera Company: "It seems to me that the concept of health insurance by mail is a very sensible one. It's quick, easy and economical. Nobody makes surprise visits to your home to ask personal questions. There's no medical examination. And costly processing charges are eliminated. This means more protection at less cost. I congratulate National Home Life Assurance Company for meeting a real need."

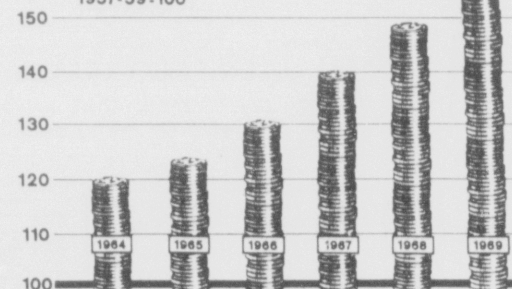

Why you must act before the date shown on your Enrollment Form—just a few days from today.

Why do we give you so little time to enroll in this plan? Because this is a guaranteed enrollment offer, we can open the enrollment only during a limited time period—with a firm deadline date for everyone. To provide you with this broad coverage at these rates, we must receive your Enrollment Form during the same period as all the others.

As soon as we receive your Enrollment Form we will rush your policy to you by First Class Mail. When your policy arrives, examine it in the privacy of your own home. It is a very short document and you'll be pleasantly surprised to see there is no fine print. Show it, if you wish, to your doctor, lawyer, insurance agent, or some other trusted advisor.

Medical Costs Skyrocketing!

SOURCE: U.S. DEPT. OF LABOR, WASHINGTON, D.C.
1957-59:100

MEDICAL CARE COSTS rose in September, 1969, to 157.6% of the 1957-59 average from 156.8% a month earlier. These costs are components of the Government consumer price index.

HERE ARE YOUR LOW RATES.

The following rate chart shows how little it costs after the first month to cover yourself, your spouse and any adult dependents. Naturally, at these low rates, we can issue you only one policy of this type. Each adult, 16 or over, pays the rate shown for his or her age.

Age at Enrollment	Monthly Premium per Adult
16-44	only $3.45
45-49	only $3.95
50-54	only $4.45
55-74	only $4.95
75-79	only $5.95
80 and over	only $6.95

Only $1.90 more per month covers all your dependent children...

from the age of one month through 18 years. Newborn children are covered automatically at the age of one month—at no additional cost! And then if you wish, just add 95¢ monthly to that, and you're covered for Maternity Benefits, too!

NOTE: The regular monthly premium shown here (for age at time of enrollment) is the same low premium you will continue to pay; it will not automatically increase as you pass from one age bracket to the next! Once you have enrolled in this National Home plan, your rate can never be changed because of how much or how often you collect from us—or because of advanced age—but only if there is a general rate adjustment, up or down, on all policies of this type in your entire state!

Act NOW—"Later" May Be Too Late!

Just 25¢ covers you and your family for first month.

TIME IS PRECIOUS! Act quickly. (No salesman will call.) Get your Enrollment Form into the mail today—because once you suffer an accident or sickness, it's TOO LATE to buy protection at any cost. That's why we urge you to act today—before anything unexpected happens.

YOUR QUESTIONS ANSWERED ABOUT THIS NATIONAL HOME PLAN

1. How much will I be paid when I go to the hospital?

You will receive cash at the rate of $400.00 a month. When you're 65 or over, you collect (in addition to any Medicare benefits) $200.00 a month for the first 3 months, and $400.00 monthly while you remain continuously hospitalized thereafter. And you collect cash even if you're in the hospital for only one day.

2. Do you pay me cash when my children go to the hospital?

You collect cash at the rate of $240.00 a month whenever any of your children (age 1 month through 18 years) go to the hospital—if Coverage for Children is added to the basic plan. And if you have a growing family—as soon as any newborn child is one month old, he, too, is covered—automatically... at no additional cost.

3. Will you pay me cash benefits for pregnancy?

Yes, when Coverage for Children and Maternity Benefits have been added to the basic plan. You collect cash at the rate of $400.00 a month for pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage that results in a hospital stay. (Both parents have to be enrolled in this plan for entire pregnancy period.)

4. Are there any other cash benefits I can collect?

There are! If you and your insured spouse are both in an accident and hospitalized at the same time, you receive this DOUBLE CASH BENEFIT: You collect at the rate of $800.00 a month and your spouse collects at the rate of $800.00 a month—you receive a total of $1,600.00-a-month tax-free cash (when under age 65) for as long as you both remain in the hospital. Then, too, if any accident results in the complete loss of limbs or eyesight—even as long as 90 days after the accident—you are paid up to $2,000.00 cash.

5. Suppose I'm hospitalized for a long time and can't meet my premium payments?

If you—the policyowner—are hospitalized for 8 consecutive weeks or more, this National Home plan will PAY ALL PREMIUMS that come due for you and all Covered Members of your family while you are confined to the hospital beyond the initial 8-week period. You aren't expected to pay us back, either.

6. What do I do when I have a claim?

Whether you have a claim, or just want to ask us a question, don't hesitate to contact us. As a National Home policyowner, you are entitled to prompt, courteous and direct attention at all times... and you will get it.

7. Now tell me what's the "catch"—what doesn't my policy cover?

Get ready for a welcome surprise. Your policy covers everything except conditions caused by: act of war; any mental disease or disorder; pregnancy, except as provided under the Maternity Benefit provision; and any sickness or injury you had before the Effective Date of your policy—but even this last "exclusion" is done away with after you've been a policyowner for only two years. Everything else is definitely covered.

8. What are the requirements to enroll in this National Home plan?

You must not have been refused or had cancelled any health, hospital or life insurance due to reasons of health; and to qualify during this Enrollment Period—you must enroll before midnight of the date shown on the Enrollment Form.

9. Besides saving money—are there any other advantages to joining this plan during this Enrollment Period?

Yes. A very important one is that you don't need to complete a lengthy, detailed application—just the brief Enrollment Form in the corner of this page. Also, during this Enrollment Period there are no extra requirements for eligibility, and no "waivers" or restrictive endorsements can be put on your policy!

10. How do I enroll?

Fill out the brief Enrollment Form and mail it with just 25¢ for the first month's protection for your entire family. Mail to: National Home, Valley Forge, Pa. 19481.

MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE

We will send your National Home policy by mail. Examine it carefully in the privacy of your own home. Show it, if you wish, to your own insurance agent, doctor, lawyer or other trusted advisor. If you decide, for any reason, that you don't want to continue as a member of this plan, return the policy within 15 days of the date you receive it, and we will promptly refund your money. Meanwhile, you will be fully protected while making your decision!
